PARA LA COMUNIDAD

Latina Sweat Project began in 2022 as small pop-up yoga classes in Little Village and mutual aid sessions inside migrant shelters. The idea was simple: wellness should feel like home, in our neighborhoods, in our languages, led by our own people.

2022 Pop-up yoga in Little Village and mutual aid inside migrant shelters.

2023 25 free community events and 750 yoga mats donated.

2024 Latina Sweat Cares becomes a 501(c)(3). $27,000 given to fellow nonprofits.

2025 Our 200-hour teacher training earns Yoga Alliance approval, 45 teachers are certified, and our first studio opens in Pilsen.

2026 100 teachers certified to date, every one on a full scholarship.

Hispanic adults practice yoga at about half the rate of white adults (10.5% vs 19.3%, CDC, 2022). A 200-hour certification in Chicago costs $2,399 to $3,650. Ours costs our teachers nothing, and every graduate pledges 25 community classes in return. That is how the door stays open.

WHAT TONIGHT BUILDS

A HOME WHERE OUR COMMUNITY CAN STAY FOR GOOD

This summer the building that houses our studio changed ownership, and we lost more than half of our space. Today was our last day of classes on 16th Street. Tomorrow LSP goes pop-up across the neighborhood. What we raise tonight helps build a permanent home of our own in Pilsen, opening early 2027, and keeps classes accessible and teacher training on full scholarship while we get there.
